The Claudel-Hobson Carburettor Models for Aero Engines Jul 04 2020 Excerpt from The Claudel-Hobson Carburettor Models for Aero Engines: Instruction Manual The two outstanding features of the Claudel-Hobson carburettor are the peculiar construction of the jet and of the throttle. The Principle of the Jet. In most types of carburettor pure petrol is drawn from the spraying jet or nozzle, and the petrol is neither atomised nor mixed with air

until after it quits the jet. The Claudel carburetors are fitted with two distinct patterns of spraying nozzle, described below. The earlier carburetors, known as the R.A.F. models, possess what is known as an "air injector" type of jet, and the later models, known as the "Z" and "Hc" types, are equipped with a "diffuser," mounted above a jet placed towards the foot of the spraying chamber. Both the air injector and the diffuser types commence to atomise the petrol and to mix it with air before it emerges into the main stream of air drawn up from the principal air intake. Thus, when the main stream of air reaches the delivery nozzle in the spraying chamber, instead of receiving a coarse spray of semi-liquid petrol, it is met by a fine, mistlike vapour consisting of richly carburetted air. The petrol is already broken up, and as the jets of vapour impinge across the main air column at an angle from a ring of emulsion holes drilled round the sides of the delivery nozzle, the process of atomising the petrol and carburetting the air is carried out with peculiar completeness and efficiency. In conjunction with the special type of throttle employed, both patterns of jet automatically adjust the proportions of air and petrol in the mixture to suit the varying needs of the engine. The Principle of the Throttle. The throttle is of the revolving barrel type, which combines a delicately graduated control of the gas supply with a frictionless path for the gases at full throttle openings. The Adolescent Owner's Manual Aug 24 2019 How do you fix your troubled adolescent? After years of working as an in-home therapist and probation officer, author William Glover grew frustrated with the conventional wisdom that said medication and/or therapy offered the only hope for angry, defiant, unmotivated, ADHD, ADD, oppositional, defiant, drug involved, juvenile court involved, and behaviorally handicapped kids. Based on his work with adolescents and their parents, he became convinced that the solution for the majority of troubled kids resided not with the professionals, but with the parents of these children. With this as a starting point, Glover began developing "The Adolescent Owner's Manual," a unique and effective resource designed to provide parents with the practical, common-sense tools and skills essential to parenting troubled adolescents.

Jade Writing Dec 29 2019 The Modern Interpretation of an Ancient Internal Alchemy Manual "Yellow Court Classic" (or "Jade Writing", as the text refers to itself) is one of the core classic manuscripts of the Taoist cannon. Even though this Third Century text has been extensively used in the Alchemy Practice in China (especially in the Highest Purity school) and referenced in many later classics (such as "The Secret of the Golden Flower", by Lu Dong Bin), the present book presents its first full translation to English. The term "Yellow Court" literary means the central area of the Emperor's Castle, that is open to the Heaven above and connects the Chambers of different Ministries of the Country. Its multifaceted symbolic meaning indicates, in different contexts, center of the body (Dan Tian), spleen as the center of five main viscera (in Traditional Chinese Medicine), a whole human body, or even the overall potentials of the manifestation of the Individual, that includes his or her field of interaction with an environment. This Manuscript provides detailed meditation and visualization instructions, and should be, according to Taoist lore, recited by a practitioner (original Chinese verses, also provided in the current book, sound very melodic) until understood and integrated thoroughly. An adept practitioner would thus develop deep understanding of the own physical and mental functions and abilities to correct and cultivate them to a higher perfection, or according to text: "Dispense thousand troubles and heal hundred diseases, become immune even to fierceness of a tiger and cruelty of wolves and capable to refuse the aging forever". The translation and commentary of the text, developed for the purpose of personal practice, is very contemporary and concentrated on the philosophical understanding and practical use in modern times (commentaries take into account some latest scientific views of the Universe) rather than religious, historical or aesthetic aspects of the work. As the full Chinese version (along with Pinyin and word-by-word English translation) of the ancient manuscript is provided, every reader should be also able to an independent study and discover the benefits according to the own, unique aspirations.
